Jeff Smith Would Have Nothing to Fear Now in a Ten-Round Bout With Mike Gibbons.

(The New York Evening World.) ST SMITH, just returning to his New Jersey home after spending a couple of years in successful iting in France, England and Ausralia, is to be offered a match with with fought Gibbons once, years is Tom O'Rourke's old National orting Club.

At that time Jeff was just coming He had fought a few good fights, many people thought he might t into the championship class. But he met Gibbons he was overby Mike's reputation. He int a defensive fight, backed away, wered up and made a generally bad that Jeff. in his Australian print-of that Jeff. in his Australian print-of record, calls that fight a "draw." It wasn't a draw. Smith was out-

But not long after the Gibbons Jeff Smith went to France. And at once he began to make a new reputation. He won a few fights, tought a draw or two, and gradually improved until he was considered one of the best middleweights in Europe. There was talk for months of matching Jeff against Carpentier. And at last that match was made. Carpentier was a light heavyweight thea, Smith a small middleweight, well within 158 pounds ringside, Carpentier took the decision, but even the French fight fans admitted that it was a very close thing, and that pentier took the decision, but even the French fight fans admitted that it was a very close thing, and that had Smith been a little more aggressive he might have won.

Builth went to Australia. where he set a close decision to Eddle Mcsecrity. The Australian critics, retewing that fight, said the referee had made a serious mistake. They seed that Jeff had outboxed Mcsecrity from start to finish. They secribed him as the cleverest boxer was seen in Australia—a wonder—set perhaps just a triffe too much inmined to defensive tactics. He fought hat Bradley, who was very popular in a stalla, and knocked Pat out in seven rounds. Then he best Jimmy in they on points in twenty rounds. It is on this latter fight that Jeff has the claim that he holds the iddleweight title.

Built always was a well built setter. He has reached his full derecomment now and is as fine a physmid specimen as any man in the ring. If he fights Mike Gibbons again he hould step into the ring this time with no fear of Mike's cleverness or his punch. After going against McGeorty and Clabby he has nothing to the from Gibbons in a ten-round level.

STRAIN TELLING ON BRAVES' THREE PITCHING LUMINARIES.

To those who have watched them closely it is evident that the have begun to crack. Dick Rudolph has been defeated in his last two starts and James has been driven from the box. Stallings expected this, but had made up his mind to push the three as long as they could stand it. He told Owner Gaffney over the long distance phone last night that he would soon begin using some of his other pitchers. Veteran players declare they do not expect to see the Braves any nearer the top than they are at present. The drive has been too hard and the consequences are likely to be bitter.

SEASON IN RIGHT FIELD

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Manager McGraw of the Giants now believes that he is over the trying period of the race. There are still a few wrinkles that he wants to iron out before he is satisfied with his machine. One of them is to put Murray back into right field. Robertson has not been fielding his position satisfactorily. The young outfielder let Good's drive get away from him in the sixth inning yesterday and came near causing a lot of trouble in the game. Good resched third without any one out, and it took some hard work by Tesreau to get out of the hole. At that stage of the game such a mess might have caused a rally by the Cubs, and McGraw decided to send Rebertson to the clubhouse and let Murray take back his old job. It is likely that Red will stay in right for the balance of the season, too, because that Red will stay in right for the balance of the season, too, because it is not the first time that Dave has messed up plays in the field. He needs a little more schooling, but the race is too tight to let him get Wallach attributed Leach's success against Rivers largely to his sparring partner, Patsy Cline, a little Irish lad from Harlem, who is now boxing under the name of Patsy Reilly. Wallach sees in him a possible featherweight champion and is going to take him along by easy stages until he gets a chance to match him with Kilbane.

(Special to The Evening World.) Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 28.

HE rotund manager of the Brooke lyn Dodgers, Wilbert Robinson. is all smiles this morning, after the three straight victories at Forbes Field, and is not agreeing that the Buccaneers will get a single game this week. Three games remain to be played, and if Allen or Aitchison can get away with to-day's fraces, to-morrow will see the winners of Wednesday again on the mound in the double-header. Pfeffer is sure to go in for one of the games Saturday, and he is very hard for the Pirates to reach safely, and Ragon is ... shape to take care of the last game of the

It was stated to-day that Rucker 10 going to be in good shape for the Giant series next week, and will likely work twice against the champions, Robie is a firm believer that Johnny McGraw is going to repeat, but he is going to try and make the race as close as possible by taking two or three games from the metropoli crowd before the season is over. Robinson said yesterday that Mathewson will lead the Giants down the stretch to victory by enough of a margin to make them feel comfortable. He does not underestimate the Braves, but places his belief in Giant success on the fact that they have been through the mill and better able to stand an exciting finish than their younger opponents.

Ed Reulbach had the sympathy of Dodgers and Pirates alike yesterday, in the midst of his trouble through his father's serious illness, and the victory he brought to the Dodger camp was appreciated by both sides of the battle. He never did better work than yesterday, and his friends are hoping that he will be able to stave off the threatened banishment to the minors. Robinson received a happy piece of news to-day when it was found that the doctor who examined Palton's arm was a little premature in his judgment, and it appears now that there is no broken bone, only a swelling that will go down with proper rest. So the hard-hitting outfielder will be ready for work when the team sets home.
